- It is the responsibility of the advertiser to ensure the accuracy of material supplied to the Publisher, and the Advertiser warrants that the copyright of material supplied and all other legal rights required regarding the material is vested in the Advertiser.
- The Publisher will take all reasonable care to ensure the accuracy of all advertisements published, but accepts no responsibility for any loss or damages suffered by the advertiser or any other party due to the publication or omission of an advertisement. If the nature of any error on the part of the Publisher warrants it, the Publisher's liability will be limited to the publication of a corrected advertisement, and all monies due by the Advertiser will still be payable.
- Changes to existing advertisements must reach the Publisher in writing by the 15th of the month preceding publication. If no such instruction is received and space has been pre-booked, the last published material will again be used.
- If an advertisement is cancelled after the deadline given, the advertiser will be liable for the full contracted amount.
- The Publisher has the right to refuse any advertisement submitted for publication, at his own discretion.
- Special positions cannot be guaranteed, except where a surcharge has been paid and the position was confirmed. The positioning of any advertisement will not be grounds for non-payment by the Advertiser.
- Payment of advertisements will be due and payable on presentation of the Publisher's tax invoice. No further advertisements will be published on overdue accounts.
