

Tail piece

By Maré Mouton

Rather unexpected, goldfish in plastic bags on a tree in the Karoo. Some visiting passers-by knocked on the door in Church Street, Prince Albert to demand an end to this inhumane treatment of fish. When there was no reply, the more dedicated went to the local Info office to get hold of the SPCA. But no harm was done to any creature – the fish were plastic, and quite happy in their plastic bags. They were hung there on a whim by Minanne, daughter of Callie and Tilla Erasmus, while visiting from university.
