

Basket case

By Annalize Mouton

Happy shopping. Missy, being conservation minded, won't have anything to do with plastic bags, but adores the shopping basket made from natural materials. With shopping for the holiday season upon us, we try hard to remember to take a basket or cloth bags along to the shop, rather than come home with ever more plastic bags to add to the waste. It may be a difficult habit to get into, but it is actually very "cool" now – and one day the environment will thank us all for this small contribution to its health.
